Words of Welcome

Welcome to the Brisbane Convention and Exhibition Centre for the 2018 IPSA World Congress of Political Science.

For the first time, the IPSA World Congress will be held in Australia, bringing together researchers and scholars of political science from around the world.

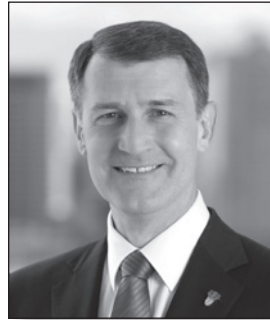

The event will provide a full program of sessions including Congress General Sessions, Research Committee Sessions, Australian Political Studies Association Sessions and Oceanic Conference on International Studies Sessions. These sessions will highlight the key Congress theme of 'Borders and Margins'.

The Queensland Government is proud to support the 2018 IPSA World Congress of Political Science through Tourism and Events Queensland, recognising the valuable contribution business events make to Queensland's tourism economy.

This event will promote Brisbane as a premier business events destination and highlight to visitors the region's many tourism experiences.

If you're visiting Brisbane, I encourage you to explore this region with its relaxed outdoor lifestyle, vibrant CBD and adventure and nature experiences.

The Hon Kate Jones MP
Minister for Innovation and Tourism Industry Development

It gives me great pleasure to welcome delegates attending the 25th World Congress on Political Science in Brisbane – Australia's New World City.

Brisbane is a great place to live, work, and relax – it's a safe, vibrant, green and prosperous city, valued for its friendly and optimistic character and enjoyable lifestyle.

We are excited to host the World Congress on Political Science right here in Brisbane, and our city looks forward to playing an important role in strengthening the networks that underpin the global political science community and broadening the knowledge of delegates.

During the congress, you will discover why our welcoming city is recognised for staging conferences of the highest standards, and why the Brisbane Convention & Exhibition Centre was named "world's best" by the International Association of Congress Centres.

While in Brisbane, I encourage you to get out and about and sample our city's unique lifestyle.

Blessed with an enviable subtropical climate, Brisbane offers eclectic bars, fine dining, breezy cafes and boutique-lined streets. Enticing galleries and cultural attractions complete its vibrant and welcoming atmosphere.

You'll also discover a clean and green city recognised as Australia's most sustainable, where a network of walkways and cycle paths will lead you along our meandering river and through lush, peaceful parklands.

Our surrounding region is home to beautiful beaches, World Heritage-listed rainforests, idyllic islands and encounters with native wildlife including koalas, kangaroos, wild dolphins and migrating humpback whales.

On behalf of the City of Brisbane, I wish the 25th World Congress of Political Science every success and hope your congress experience is rewarding and enjoyable.

Graham Quirk
Lord Mayor of Brisbane

Dear Colleagues, Friends, Members of IPSA

It is a pleasure for our community of political scientists to have every two years an opportunity to meet at the IPSA World Congress of Political Science. As you are well aware, our World Congresses move each time to different parts of the world. Some congress venues are centrally located and are easy to get to; others are distant and require more of an effort to attend. The shifts of congress venue reflect our sensitivity to being a global organization, directing us to make sure that we meet in each time in a different region of the world. Brisbane, where the 25th IPSA World Congress is taking place, is in a distant location. Many of you had to travel great distances and spend respectable sums to get here. Obtaining an Australian visa particularly for those not coming from North America or Europe may have been a difficult and expensive feat. Some of you may have been also asked to undergo searches necessitated by alleged security needs before being admitted to this country. Despite such difficulties, I can assure you that after you have cleared these hurdles, you have come to a wonderful country and a wonderful city and of course, a wonderful congress.

The theme of the 2018 IPSA World Congress is “Borders and Margins” which is certainly an appropriate theme for our times. It seems that most societies are becoming more protective of their borders, even those societies who were built by immigrants, no longer welcome them. The borders of democracy appear to be narrowing down in the face of populist challenges in even the most established democracies of the world. People at the margins of societies and states in the margins of the world system are revolting, clamoring for a greater voice in the politics of their societies and in the global system. Borders continue to constitute a major cause for conflict among states. I need not continue but assure you that within the broad framework of the congress theme, you will attend many stimulating panels, hear excellent papers, share the findings of your research with others, listen to some of the outstanding scholars in our discipline and leave this Congress with a sense of intellectual and professional enrichment that will hopefully entice to come to our 26th World Congress in Lisbon in 2020.

Organizing a world congress requires an organizational effort of major dimensions. The scholarly dimension is the responsibility of the Program Committee. We have had the good fortune to benefit from the joint leadership of Program Co-chairs Terrell Carver and Füsün Türkmen in this endeavor. They have had to deal with massive paper and panel proposals, molding them into a coherent program. For shaping the framework within which the program is implemented, on the other hand, we owe special thanks, on the one hand, to the Local Organizing Committee under the apt leadership of Katharine Gelber, and to the IPSA Secretariat and Staff under the guidance of IPSA Secretary General Guy Lachapelle, but comprising of Mathieu St-Laurent, Joanne St-Pierre, Aubert Lavigne-Descôteaux, Roksolana Bobyk, Haluk Dag, Margaret Simonelli, Eric Grève, Terry Rybak & Fernand Thériault, without whose exhausting efforts, this congress would not have been possible. In the final analysis, the responsibility for the World Congress rests with the IPSA Executive Committee to members of which a word of appreciation should also be extended.

As the President of IPSA, I welcome you all to this exciting event. I hope that it proves rewarding for you intellectually but also a fun experience that you will recall with fondness in years to come. Thank you for joining us.

Ilter Turan
President, International Political Science Association

Words of Welcome

Welcome to the 25th IPSA World Congress of Political Science! This commemorative Congress is the first to be held in Australasia, and in particular in the very temperate and enjoyable city of Brisbane, capital city of the state of Queensland, in the Commonwealth of Australia.

IPSA is grateful for the co-participation of the Australian Political Studies Association and the Oceanic Conference on International Studies, both of which have joined forces and merged their respective conferences with the IPSA Congress Program. The joint Local Organizing Committee sessions have been carefully coordinated with IPSA sessions to promote stimulating arenas of communication with a genuinely global view.

The Congress Theme “Borders and Margins” was proposed and adopted with these circumstances in mind, and the global response has been tremendous, particularly given that most participants will be travelling long distances from outside and even within the region. The 25th IPSA World Congress will feature Congress Theme Panels, convened by a variety of specialists, to showcase research, innovation and debate within such a politically salient framing.

For our plenary highlights we are pleased to welcome Professor David P. Forsythe, distinguished expert and advocate, to address “The Future of Human Rights in an Era of Narrow Nationalism”: The Margin for Cross Border Concern and Action, and Professor Cynthia Enloe, the globally renowned feminist, to speak on ‘Patriarchy is Bigger than Donald Trump’. We have duo-speakers Professor Antony Green and Professor Lisa Hill on ‘Australian Democratic Innovations’, sure to be an eye-opener for anyone interested in the theory and practice of democracy. The Presidential Plenary is a special highlight at this Congress: it promises a particularly engaging roundtable discussion among eminent political scientists on ‘Challenging the Borders of Liberal Democracy: The Global Rise of Populism’.

For this IPSA World Congress, we selected session chairs to ‘reach out’ to global and national communities, and to disciplines cognate with Political Science. General Sessions (GS), Australian Political Studies Association Sessions (AUS), and Oceanic Conference on International Studies Sessions (OCIS) are open to all Congress participants, as are Research Committee Sessions (RC), which cover the all aspects of the discipline.

Rounding off the Program we have Special Sessions (SS) that are truly special in format and content: café-style lunchtime opportunities to converse informally and very personally with specialist mentors on ‘Teaching and Assessment’, ‘Research Methods’, and ‘Professional Development’ on three different days. These conversations are a two-way street: our experts can also learn from you! And we have organized a further innovation: Professor James der Derian will curate four film screening events at the same time daily, with Q&A and audience discussion.

In closing we must acknowledge a huge debt and offer fervent thanks to the IPSA Congress Team: Joanne St-Pierre, Roksolana Bobyk, Haluk Dag, Margaret Simonelli and Eric Grève. They have been wonderfully receptive to our ideas and have worked super-hard to realize them at this innovative World Congress. What you see is what they have made possible, and we the Program Co-Chairs – and they at the IPSA Secretariat – hope you have a wonderful experience here in Brisbane.

Terrell Carver and Füsün Türkmen
Program Co-chairs

A Benchmark – The 25th IPSA World Congress

For many years, the members of the IPSA Executive Committee (EC) were looking for a World Congress in Australia and New Zealand. This is not a coincidence that the 25th IPSA World Congress will be held in Brisbane. We finally had this opportunity when Katharine Gelber and A.J. Brown proposed to the EC to hold the IPSA World Congress in Brisbane. Since then, this Congress has become not only a challenge but a collective project that engaged all the colleagues from the continent and regions.

The theme of the Congress, “Borders and Margins”, is timely. I would like to extend my most sincere thanks to the Program Co-chairs Terrell Carver and Füsün Türkmen for their endless work to make this Congress an intellectual challenge. We have witnessed the salience of several factors that foster the emergence of a new kind of regionalism (the new regionalism) that didn’t have mainly a functionalism economic base but a political (both cultural and institutional) one. These factors can be summarized in internationalization and globalization, reactivation or emergence of regional identities and culture, reinforcement of sub-state point of view – both local and regional- for economic development, social regulation and collective action, without mentioning the growing importance of immigration and migrant policies. There is also an increasing number of countries in which the polity is organized in a multi-level way – the emergence of new borders. In these systems, several layers of government share the capacity to adopt political decisions and allocate resources. The variety of cases is wide, ranging from strong federal systems to functional economic or administrative regional decentralized ones. Issues related to the right of minorities – from a sociopolitical perspective – raised also the question who is at the margin.

2018 IPSA World Congress will welcome close to 2,500 political scientists from more than 80 countries. A World Congress is always a moment to look over the state of our discipline but also to look upon what IPSA has accomplished after 25 World Congresses. The Association is certainly stronger, the collective membership has increased since 1949 – from the 4-original country to 57 today – and it has become a reference for debating world issues. We do hope that you will have a wonderful experience. Enjoy your stay in Brisbane.

Guy Lachapelle, Secretary General of IPSA

On behalf of the Local Organizing Committee (LOC), I welcome you to the 25th IPSA World Congress of Political Science in Brisbane. The LOC is delighted to host this international event in Australia for the first time. We have an exciting program of events, including a plenary session on the first day on 'Australian Democratic Innovations' that showcases some of the important democratic mechanisms that Australia has brought to the world, including the secret ballot. A speaker at this plenary is Mr Antony Green, election analyst from the Australian Broadcasting Corporation, and Australia's leading media commentator on elections and electoral processes. We have incorporated the annual Australian Political Studies Association conference, and the biennial Oceanic Conference on International Studies into the program, and we hope you will take this opportunity to interact with delegates from these two conferences.

The Opening Ceremony will feature a Welcome to Country from Indigenous elders from the local area, as well as a performance by the Nunukul Yuggera Indigenous dancers, who will perform a dreamtime story. The IPSA World Congress pays particular attention to Indigenous issues, with a General Session on Indigenous Politics (GS10). We have also made a place in the program for politics in the region, with a General Session on Politics in Asia (GS12). We think placing these in the General Sessions of the World Congress reflects their special place in hosting an international political science conference in Australia for the first time.

The venue for the IPSA World Congress is the Brisbane Convention & Exhibition Centre, which is located in the heart of the Southbank precinct, an arts and leisure precinct that is open to all. The area has gardens, a beach area, and many places to eat and relax. You can also take the opportunity to plan a side trip to famous destinations you may not have seen before, including Uluru and the Great Barrier Reef.

We look forward to welcoming you to Brisbane for the 25th IPSA World Congress!

Katharine Gelber
Chair of the Local Organizing Committee (LOC)

Welcome to Brisbane!

Every country and every people are unique – and Australia has its own unique history of contribution to politics and political science around the world.

As a nation of immigrants, our systems of government and political institutions have been imported from around the globe, many of them at the cutting edge of democratic innovation. Yet we are also home to the world's oldest continuous Indigenous political cultures, with whom our European constitutional traditions are yet to reconcile.

We continue to enjoy great national prosperity. But we find ourselves, like others, at the margins of respect for human rights in our responses to global citizenship pressures and struggling to maintain equality of opportunity and reward in a ruthlessly competitive age. We hope that this year's IPSA World Congress will help restrengthen our capacity for policy solutions based on respect for human life, safety and dignity.

Australians pride themselves on honesty and "telling it like it is", in our own laconic way. Traditionally, we have strong faith in government, and Transparency International's Corruption Perceptions Index ranks us at the 13th least corrupt country in the world. But just six years ago we were 7th; so, here as elsewhere, we hope to see a rising "critical citizenship" turn some of our accountability challenges around.

Thank you for joining us for the 25th IPSA World Congress of Political Science, to help enrich these vital debates in Australia, and new analysis and solutions for the world. As the local foundation sponsors, Griffith University and the University of Queensland are especially proud to see Brisbane recognized as a world centre for study and research in political science.

And on behalf of all our foundation sponsors (Griffith University, the University of Queensland, University of Sydney and the Australian National University), our other university sponsors (Flinders, Melbourne, Monash, Murdoch and UNSW) and all members of the Australian Political Studies Association and the Local Organizing Committee – we can only say...

Welcome to Australia, and to Brisbane!

The International Political Science Association (IPSA) was founded in Paris in 1949 under the aegis of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation (UNESCO) to promote the development of political science throughout the world. As an international scholarly association, IPSA has a mission to:

- Support the development of political science in all parts of the world, building academic networks linking East and West, North and South;
- Create an inclusive and global political science community by ensuring a balanced representation along the lines of region, gender and experience in all of its activities;
- Promote collaboration between scholars in emerging and established democracies and to support the academic freedoms needed for the social sciences to flourish;
- Ensure that political scientists are strongly positioned to make a valuable contribution to the quality of public deliberation and decision-making and to our understanding of an increasingly interconnected political world;
- Support the role of political science in empowering men and women to participate more effectively in political life.

Institutional Relationships

IPSA is a member of the International Social Science Council (ISSC) and of the Global Development Network (GDN) and has a consultative status with the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations (ECOSOC) and with UNESCO. It is also affiliated with the United Nations Department of Public Information - Non-Governmental Organizations (DPI/NGO) and the Organisation internationale de la Francophonie (OIF). IPSA also supports the development of the Réseau des associations francophones de science politique.

IPSA's main activities

Research

IPSA has 50 active research committees covering all facets of political science. Starting with one in 1970, IPSA Research Committees are now a vast worldwide research network where all interested individuals are welcome to contribute. Research committees frequently publish their work and organize their own conferences. They each present a minimum of two panels at IPSA World Congresses, but in most cases many more. Joint panels between two or more RCs are strongly encouraged.

Anti-harassment Policy: Code of conduct

The purpose of this document is to provide an authoritative statement of the expectations for conduct for all who participate in IPSA meetings and congresses. The code of conduct is a natural outcome of IPSA's commitment to maintaining and promoting a professional environment at its meetings and other organized activities, and it is guided by the conviction that the advancement of knowledge flourishes most readily in an atmosphere of constructive debate in which all members treat each another with dignity and respect.

The International Political Science Association (IPSA) brings together professionals from a variety of backgrounds and from a large number of locations around the globe. This diversity brings with it the potential for fruitful dialogue about research and policy, but also the possibility of disagreements among members. This code of conduct is designed to ensure that all are treated with dignity and respect; and that sensitivity and consideration guide our interactions while, at the same time, not limiting the substance or arena of our debate.

- 1) This code of conduct refers to relations between IPSA members, IPSA Headquarters staff, and other participants, and to their interactions in the course of IPSA activities.
 - a) IPSA activities include IPSA's governing bodies (Executive Committee, Council), World Congresses, regional and committee meetings and workshops, and editing of IPSA's journals.
 - b) Some matters of professional ethics are under the purview of specific committees and are addressed elsewhere: for instance, plagiarism and academic freedom.
- 2) IPSA office holders, from the President and Secretary General to members of the Executive Committee (EC) and editors of IPSA journals, have a special responsibility to uphold and observe this code of conduct, promoting in the Association's activities a professional environment characterized by constructive debate and the treatment of all members and participants with dignity and respect.
- 3) IPSA recognizes that there is a distinction between victimization through harassment and legitimate, justifiable, and appropriate constructive criticism. Nothing in this document should be construed as a limitation on the ability of members and participants to constructively evaluate and critique one another's work.
- 4) Nonetheless, IPSA recognizes its duty to ensure that members and participants are not harassed. It further recognizes that this duty is of wider application and includes all members and participants, regardless of status or the period of time.
 - a) Harassment can be defined as unwanted conduct (actions or comments) related to age, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, race, disability, religion, nationality, citizenship or any personal characteristic of the individual, which has the purpose (intentional) or effect (unintentional) of violating a person's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment for that person.
- b) Harassment may include, but is not limited to:
 - i. Offensive, insulting, intimidating, or malicious behavior targeted at another person or persons;
 - ii. Abuse or misuse of power intended to undermine, humiliate, denigrate, or injure the person or persons toward whom such behavior is targeted;
 - iii. Actions or comments - persistent or isolated - affecting the dignity of people or individuals. The key is that the actions or comments can be experienced as demeaning and unacceptable.
 - iv. Sexual harassment or intimidation.
- 5) IPSA recognizes that members and participants who feel that they have been victims of harassment as defined in this code of conduct are entitled to pursue their case in a welcoming and non-threatening environment.
- 6) IPSA is committed to ensuring that complaints brought under this procedure shall not lead to the victimization or harassment of any individual.
 - a) The procedures for addressing grievances (detailed below) aim to resolve complaints in an informal way, whenever possible. At the same time, IPSA recognizes that punitive measures may be required to address some violations.
 - b) IPSA also is committed to ensuring that those who lodge complaints under this code are not subject to retaliation by respondents or third parties.
- 7) IPSA ensures that procedures are in place to address complaints of harassment. Such procedures provide for
 - a) Timely handling of such complaints;
 - b) Fair and impartial handling of such complaints; and
 - c) Fair, impartial, and sensitive treatment of all parties affected by such complaints.
- 8) Congress and event participants should report – directly or through another IPSA office holder - a violation of the code of conduct to the IPSA Delegate for Anti-Harassment Policy (from here on: the Delegate). The Delegate is appointed by the EC at its pre-World Congress meeting to serve until the next pre-World Congress meeting.
- 9) In cases where the reported behavior is ongoing, or where there is a question of immediate physical harm or danger, steps will be taken by IPSA officials to ensure the safety of participants, regardless of whether a formal complaint is pursued or not.

- 10) Participants have two options through which to pursue a complaint:
 - a) If the participant does not wish to enter into a formal investigation process, then IPSA can issue a notice. In these cases, the IPSA Delegate will contact the person who is the subject of the complaint, inform them that a complaint has been made, and remind them of IPSA's Anti-Harassment Policy. The recipient of the notice will have the opportunity to respond to IPSA in writing, but no further formal investigation will be undertaken.
 - b) The formal investigation process will be handled in confidence, and the identity of the complainant will not be revealed to the respondent, except with the permission of the complainant. To proceed with the formal investigation process, the complaint must be made in writing and must include:
 - i. The name of the complainant;
 - ii. The name of the respondent;
 - iii. The nature of the conduct about which a complaint is being made, including, where possible, dates, times and locations;
 - iv. If appropriate, names of any participants who may have witnessed the conduct.
- 11) An investigation will be conducted by the Delegate in every case where a formal complaint is made.
 - a) The Delegate will ask the respondent to provide a written statement in response to the complaint. The Delegate may also contact identified witnesses or consult with others with direct knowledge of the incident in question. All evidence should be given in writing (including email).
- 12) At the end of the formal investigation, the Delegate will propose a resolution for the matter. Resolution may include:
 - a) Determination that IPSA's policy has not been violated and that the complaint will be dismissed;
 - b) Recommendation for informal resolution of the matter in order to re-establish a professional relationship between the parties, including options such as mediation;
 - c) Termination of IPSA congress or event participation for the respondent, including current and/or future IPSA congress and events;
 - d) A temporary or permanent restriction on the respondent regarding accession to leadership positions in IPSA, including the Executive Committee;
 - e) A temporary or permanent suspension of the respondent's IPSA membership.
- 13) The final decision regarding such proposals will be made by the EC, and the resolution of the matter will be notified to all parties in writing.
- 14) In any proceedings, IPSA will make every effort to protect complainants from retaliation. The information given by all parties and their identities will be treated with strict confidentiality. If anonymity becomes difficult to maintain in particular cases, IPSA will defer to the preferences of the complainant.
- 15) This code of conduct and its procedures for resolving grievances are not intended to, and are not a substitute for, the rights of any of the parties to seek legal redress. Any legal action on the part of the complainant will be exclusively a matter between the complainant, the respondent and the authorities in the location where the incident occurred. IPSA will not be a party to such legal action, nor will it accept any legal liability or financial responsibility for such action.

Congress Program Session Chairs

Session chairs are crucial to the Congress since their role is to solicit high-quality papers and excellent panels prior to the submission deadline, and thus to spread the IPSA word and enrich the program. During the subsequent review process, they have a heavy burden selecting further papers and forming panels - some 525 were assembled by the 2018 session chairs that you see below. The Program Co-chairs owe a tremendous debt of thanks to each and every person listed below, and this message expresses our very sincere gratitude.

4TH INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

COLLABORATIVE LEADERSHIP FOR A SUSTAINABLE FUTURE

11-12 APRIL 2019 IN WELLINGTON, AOTEAROA NEW ZEALAND

For more information visit the PUPOL website www.pupolnetwork.com

Today's leaders face growing demands to address unruly global problems and achieve greater sustainability for people, the planet and future generations. This requires leadership that engages many stakeholders across sectors, countries and cultures in decision-making and action. The alternative is that complex change fosters a continued and increasing rise of populist leaders who present 'hero' leadership options based on command and control 'solutions'.

The international context creates an extraordinary chance for researching public sector and political leadership. The Public and Political Leadership (PUPOL) international academic network aims to contribute to solutions and help societies and their leaders address such challenges through research and scholarship focusing on the role of leaders and leadership in the public and political domains.

PUPOL 2019 will create momentum for its mostly northern hemisphere membership to debate public and political leadership from the perspective of distance in a country, which is actively rethinking the roles of its public organisations and political leaders and its interaction with other actors and sectors.

For regular updates on the PUPOL 2019 Conference subscribe to the PUPOL mailing list www.jiscmail.ac.uk/PUPOL
